Laying Down the Requirements-Found Dead on the Track - Cream of Michigan News in Brevities.

STANTON, Jan. 21 - Henry Patter son, a farmer of Bluomer township, this county, has been lately sending out a large number of letters to mayors of prominent American cities. His wife died some time ago and for two or three months of the winter he has been without a housekeeper and his letters are all asking for a good wife. The letters are all the same and read as follows: "I suppose you have more women in your city, than are wanted there, and perhaps you know one that will make me a good wife and housekeeper. I do not want a city flirt or a highflyer, for I am a mortal man, 48 years old, and have $6,000 worth of property, and ought to have a housekeeper. I would prefer a woman with property, but a poor one would do if she is one you can recommend as a good housekeeper, willing to live on a farm." Mr. Patterson also specifies that the woman must be under 40, and must not weigh more than 125 pounds. He wishes to have a good wife sent on "C. O. D.," and promises to pay transportation charges upon her arrival. He mailed one of the letters to Mayor Grant of New York and one to Mayor Washburne of Unicago.

DEAD ON THE TRACK.

A Bay City Man Cuts Himself Off from Bay Whisky.

WEST BAY CITY, Mich., Jan. 21 .-David Low, a blacksmith who had been employed at Wheeler & Co.'s shipyard in this city, was found dead on the Flint & Pere Marquette track near the county line between this and Saginaw counties, this morning. Low took to drinking in this city Monday and a light fine was imposed on him in one of the justice courts and he was allowed to depart. It is supposed that he again got drunk and, wandering along the track, was struck by a train. Chief of Police Lennon can find no trace of his relatives in the city.

AFTER THE THIEVES. Government Agent Getting Notes lu East Tawas.

East Tawas, Jan. 21.—Col. T. W. Werden, United States special agent of the general land office, is here at the office of H. C. Bristol investigating trespass and fraudulent homestead en-tries. A number of citizens have acknowledged that they, too, have stolen timber and wood off United States land. Those who have voluntarily confessed will be lemently dealt with. The government is bound to prosecute trespassers here.

Wayland News,

R. M. Congdon of Bradley, in Wayland township, died on Sunday last and was buried on Wednesday. Mr. Congdon was a pioneer boy in Allegan county fifty-six years ago. At the time of his death he was supervisor of Way-land township, which office he has held for many years.

Married a Fennville.

FENNYHAM, Jan. 21 .- A social event of much importance occurred evening at the home of the bride's parents. Frank S. Raymand was joined in marriage to Hattle B., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Peach Belt. Mr. Raymand is our village president, an able and successful financeer, and a gentleman of whom all are justly proud, and his handsome wife is every way his equal. A happy journey through life is hoped for them.

Missing From Pontiac.

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 21.—Monday morning L. F. Davoil, a mill owner of Drayton Plains, went to Detroit to collect some money. Not returning by the time he had promised, the police were notified, but so far his where-abouts have not been learned. Yesterday morning some unknown person sent a pocketbook with an indersed check, billhead and other papers of the missing man, stating that he had found them near the Brush street dook.

Crowded With Cases.

BROWN CETT, Jan 21 .- The term of Center this week has an unusually large number of cases to dispose of. The calendar is headed with a murder case and seven other cases of interest and importance. The Gambia case for $5000 has been amicably settled, the terms of the compromise being un-Latourette of Fenton, treasurer, and D. A. Water-man of Detroit, auditor.

E. D. Lynn, who has recently returned from a trip to the pine lumber regions in the Georgian bay district, makes the rather surprising statement that it contains no vastamount of pine. He says that the country to the north, east and west is destitute of any lumber, and is generally rocky and sterile, containing great mineral wealth, however. Explorers have started fires to help them in finding minerals, and in this way a large amount of timber was consumed.

One week ago Emanuel Glimpse, s prominent farmer of Bridgewater, died. At the funeral his wife lay sick in bed in one corner of the parlor, and his brother, Erra, in another, the casket and friends occupying a space between. At the same hour, one week later, the brother, Erra, died. The widow is still very sick. The brothers were always together, and were seemingly inseparable. Their ages were 78 and 71 years respectively.

TRAVELING IN GREENLAND.

Freezing by Inches Everyone knows that a winter in Greenland is a cold season, but it is "pretty late in the fall" all the year round in that part of the world. Here is a description of a September day taken from "The First Crossing of Greenland:"

On the morning of September 4 the weather was glorious and the air still. There had been a light fall of snow in the night. The sun shone over the infinitely menotonous snow field, which, rising almost imperceptibly, stretched away and away in front of us like one huge white carpet glittering with dis-monds, soft and fine in texture as down, and laid in long, gentle undulations which the eye could scarcely follow. But in the afternoon the aspect of our landscape changed entirely. A biting wind got up from the northwest which drove the snow before it in one overwhelming whirlwind. The sky then cleared completely and the weath-

The wind increased in strength; it was bitter work tolling along against it, and we had to be careful not to get badly

First my nose hardened, but I dis-covered this in time to save it by rubbing it well with snow. I thought myself safe now, but then I felt a queer, chilly feeling under my chin, where I found that my throat was quite numb and stiff. By more rubbing and wrapping some mittens and other things round my neck I put matters straight there.

But then came the worst attack of all, as the wind found its way in through my clothes in the region of my stomach and gave rise to terrible pains. This was met by the use of a soft felt hat as a chest protector, and I was now armed at all points. My companions suffered as I did, and the bodily comforts of our tent were more welcome than usual that evening.

SWINDLING IS UNIVERSAL.

But It Generally Gets Its Compe

Each season has its peculiar swindles too numerous to mention. In summer the iceman, who is very far from being a nice man, reaps his little harvest. The iceman's bills, even in July or August, may be called a cold steal. In winter the plumber challenges our admiration. Strict, honest and square dealing is not obtained even in the administration of justice. A colored gen-tleman who adhered too closely to a valuable dog, on which he had not even a mortgage or builder's lien, got two years at Sing Sing, while the average boodle alderman gets a new trial, or an acquittal. The man who steals a dolar is called a thief, while the man who feloniously absorbs a million is called a brilliant financier; and so he is, but he is simultaneously a thief, all the same However, there are compensations. For instance, the alderman who boodles in turn is severely boodled by the legal gentlemen who attended to his (the boodler's) vindication. The merchant who fines his clerks, and otherwise robs them, is victimized by the fashionable female kleptomaniae, who has such taking ways. The American exile in Canada has to pay a quarter for a drink of whisky. The wealthy coal dealer or the Wall-street broker inadvertently visits a church fair, and when he comes out he feels as bad as if he had been interviewed by the Pullman car porter. As a boodler, he is the boss. Of all the boodlers he does the biggest business on the smallest capital. - Texas Siftings.

Many small amenities which the unaccustomed regard as among the fads of fashionable life, and altogether whimsical, unnecessary and absurd, will really be found established upon reason if once looked into with any scrunity.

When the loud speaking woman is stamped as valgar, for example, it is not only because the association connects her loud voice with the fish women of Billings-gate, but because the loud voice is unsuited to dwelling rooms, hurts the ears of the hearers, allows every one to know all the speaker's business and often that of other people, and betrays, if not a coarse nature, at least an untrained and uncultivated manner, while, had as it is within doors, it manner, while, bad as it is within doors, it acts a greatly worse part without, where it attracts attention and invites insult; but without and within it is unwomanly, and it being generally admitted that the part of refinement, good breeding and good feeling is to excite as little remark as possible upon the street, the lend tone is then at once recognized as a vulgarity.

As much contempt is showered upon the system of visiting cards as upon anything else in the lipe of social niceties, but when it is remembered that the card represents it is remembered that the card represents the individual, as the bank bill represents the gold coin, it will be seen that the card is sent out on an embassy, and plays a use-ful part in secial diplomacy. Bit of paste-based as it is it was compliments acboard as it is, it pays compliments, ac-knowledges attentions, serves in place of its owner, invites, declines, apologizes and does the work of a factorum so well that, like beauty, it has its own excuse for being. And if we looked into the matter still more at length, without doubt we would find that in almost every instance the thing criticised is a valuable usage.— Harper's Baser.

CATARRE- CHILDREN.

For over two years my little girl's life was made miserable by a case of Catarrh. The discharge from the nose was large, constant and very offensive. Her eyes became inflamed, the lids swollen and very painful After trying various remedies, I gave her S. S. S. The first bottle seemed to aggravate the disease, but the symptoms soon abated, and in a short time she was cured. -Dr. L. B. RITCHEY, Moshey, Ind.

S. S. S. has a wonderful effect on Children. It is harmisse, but powerful to force out the poison.
